The Presenters

The Presenters are arts and educational initiatives in our community that do the real work year round. Presenters of The Birmingham Folk Festival (BFF) are the ones who curate music, who facilitate activities, interactive stages, and essentially who we need to thank for the richness and depth of art and entertainment in our park today.

Pay it Forward?

Sponsors & Presenters pay for the tickets for our whole city! Consider paying forward their generosity with your own: donate a ticket price of $25 to one of the following organizations!

GROWING

TOGETHER

IN UNITY

We strive to foster a sense of community between citizens of Birmingham through showcasing diverse expressions of folk music and uniting community groups from different areas of the city that don't often have opportunities to gather together. BFF is a place that provides all festival attendees a chance to hear stories and songs from people with backgrounds both similar to and different from themselves and, through this folk tradition of sharing, grow closer together as citizens of the same city, state, and country.

OUR HOME

We also hope to celebrate and contribute to the Avondale community by highlighting one of Birmingham's most under-utilized assets, Avondale Park's historic Amphitheater. The Avondale Amphitheater once hosted regular concerts, plays, and pageants, and for decades served as the bustling epicenter for community life in Avondale. Since its decline in the 1970s, and despite renovations in 2011, the Amphitheater today is rarely used as an entertainment venue. By staging an annual festival here, we hope to reawaken this amazing historical venue, re-centering Avondale as a premier district for entertainment in Birmingham.
